

Douglas and Elisabeth Hem and their eight children, on the road between Bala and Swansea, Wales 22nd June 1951. Photo: Geoff Charles Collection © National Library Wales.

ROMANI IDENTITIES, HISTORIES, & ETHNICITY

Dr. Adrian Marsh

Researcher in Romani Studies, Swedish Research Institute in Istanbul, Turkey

date

2017
DEC. 04

location

CEU Romani Studies Program
CENTRAL EUROPEAN UNIVERSITY
NADOR 15, 103 TIERED

time

13:00
TO 15:30

Romani and Traveller people across Europe are consistently defined and described by others in terms that draw upon historical stereotypes, mistaken identities and fantasies of the imaginary 'Gypsy'. Our history is ignored or 'lost' by majority scholarship, our ethnicity dismissed or misunderstood and attempts to 'fit' us into the homogeneous nation-state are made. Romani and Traveller diversity and experience make us what we are...